

Australasian Journal of Herpetology®

Issue 80, 1 August 2025.

ISSN 1836-5698 (Print)
ISSN 1836-5779 (Online)

Contents

Before it gets muffed out of existence ... A new species of Giant Salamander from Kwang Sai, Guangxi Zhuangzu, South China.

... Raymond T. Hoser, 3-5.

Well overdue ... The lizard genus Acanthodactylus Fitzinger, 1834 sensu lato is split with 11 new genera and 29 new species formally named and others resurrected from synonymy.

... Raymond T. Hoser, 6-40.

Two new species of lizards in the genus Omanosaura Lutz, Bischoff and Mayer, 1986 (Sauria: Lacertidae) from Oman.

... Raymond T. Hoser, 41-44.

A new species of Garter Snake from Guerrero, Mexico, closely associated with Brucerogersus chrysocephalus (Cope, 1885) (Natricinae: Colubridae).

... Raymond T. Hoser, 45-47.

Six new species in the African Water Snake genera Grayia Günther, 1858 and Xenurophis Günther, 1863.

... Raymond T. Hoser, 48-57.

World first. A natural cross-breeding of a male Black Headed Python (Aspidites melanocephalus) with a female coastal Queensland Carpet Python (Morelia macdowelli), that produced 12 healthy young (image below).

... Raymond T. Hoser, 58-64.

Australasian Journal of Herpetology®

Publishes original research in printed form in relation to reptiles, other fauna and related matters, including classification, ecology, public interest, legal, captivity, "academic misconduct", etc. It is a peer reviewed printed journal published in hard copy for permanent public scientific record in accordance with the International Code of Zoological Nomenclature (Ride et al. 1999 as amended online since), with sizeable print run and global audience and high impact.

Full details at: <http://www.herp.net>

Copyright. All rights reserved.

Online journals (this issue) do not appear for a month after the actual and listed publication date of the printed journals. Minimum print run of first printings is at least fifty hard copies.