

Snakebusters, The Hands On Reptile Show of Choice for Kindergartens, Child-Care Centers and Pre-Schools (Ages 3-5).

If you run a child-care centre or similar, forget the worries related to getting someone into the place to entertain or educate the kids.

Raymond Hoser and Snakebusters will bring everything that's needed. You simply sit back and watch the kids become captivated by the "hands on" wildlife show.

Typically the children are sat in a semicircle with Raymond Hoser and his critters placed in the centre.

Actually Raymond is in the centre and behind him are the reptiles starting off in a large metallic box or two.

As a rule, nothing comes out of the large, sealed box until the show begins.

As harmless reptiles are used in the kinder/childcare setting and they are tame, the fear factor is usually nil and Raymond also makes sure of this.

The reptiles are brought out one by one and shown to the kids.

There's always some who are more brave than others and these are usually allowed to touch and even handle the reptiles. Before long, all the children want to do this.

As Snakebusters interactive shows are known to be the best of the "hands on" shows, several of each of the most popular animals are usually brought along so that no child must wait too long for their turn to hold or touch a reptile ... yes they all want to do it "Now!".

Notwithstanding this, there are occasionally some people who have a deep fear of anything scaly and they are not pushed into doing anything they don't want to.

Hence at the end of the interactive show, everyone feels that they've had an experience to remember.

Parents are also invited to attend these shows as they too will retain information from these for the rest of their lives.

Forget the wiggles, hi five, McDonald's, Kids Zones and the rest. Nothing competes with Raymond Hoser and live snakes and lizards to give the kids a good fun time and make your child care centre a place for early childhood learning.

Raymond Hoser has two young children of his own (aged 2 and 4 in 2004) and so he knows their "on" and "off" buttons like only a parent can.

Snakebusters snake and reptile shows have all that you'd expect, including tame handleable reptiles that the children can touch, feel or even cuddle if they want, in a friendly and safe environment.

Snakebusters reptile "parties" have all the extras available that no one else does. This includes books, CD's, videos and DVD's on reptiles available to carers or parents if interested, including definitive titles by Raymond Hoser, such as the reptile bible "Australian Reptiles and Frogs".

As an extra feature unique to the "Snakebusters" experience, Snakebusters brings a professional photographer to the venue (either Raymond Hoser or someone else) so that quality photos of the children with their favorite reptile can be taken so that the occasion can be treasured forever.

In spite of the professional grade of the photos, these are available at near cost and options include either photos alone (any quantity from 1 to 100), and with or without frames, including the ever-popular "Fridge Magnet" frame, or even in large poster size!

Photos are usually sent on to the organizers or child care centre about a fortnight after the Snakebusters experience.

It is because of the high turn over of film that Snakebusters are able to supply quantities as little as a single photo at such a reasonable rate and within a reasonable time frame after the event.
